By Telegraph to the Times.

BERLIN, July 7.—[Copyright, 1883, by the New York Associated Press.] The Czar has asked in an autograph letter to Emperor William that Prince Bismarck accom-pany the Emperor to St. Petersburgh, where M. de Giers will formally present the preposal for a nominal Russian protectorate in Bulgaria. The proposal does not involve ecupation of the country by Russia. The candidate for the Bulgarian throne is to be appointed by an ambassadorial con-ference to be held at Vienna or Constantinople. If these terms are accepted the Czar will order the army corps mustering on the Austrian and German frontiers back into the interior. Prince Bismarck at the Cabinet meeting yesterday stated these proposals, and said that he believed they offered a chance for a peaceful solution of the question, and that he intended to respond by going to St. Petersburgh if the spond by going to St. Petersburgh if the Austrian Government coincided in his views. Doubt is expressed as to whether views. Doubt is expressed as to whether Austria will consent.

A Warsaw paper, the acknowledged organ of Gen. Gourko, asserts that the National party, with whom the Czar must reckon, is determined to reap the fullest results for the blood and money expended in Turkey. In the same article the Poles of Posen and Galicia are exhorted to rally around Russia in the approaching war with Germany. The doctors' report on the malady of Emperor Frederick will be published on Tues-day next. The report deals strictly with the nature of the disease, and contains sep-arate reports signed by Profs. Bardeleben, Bergman, Gerhardt, Kussmaul, Schritter and Schmidt, Neither Mackenzie nor Hovel signs the report, Mackenzie will is-sue a separate report, with a statement from the Austrian professor, Billroth, defending

THE AUTUMN MANEUVERS.

The Emperor, in accepting the resignation of Gen. von Caprivi, conferred upon him the grand cross of the red eagle and assigned him to the command of an army corps at the autumn maneuvers. The Emperor appears to attach the utmost importance to these maneuvers. It is his intention to further develop the cavalry service. He is also experimenting with a view to the employment of pioneers for both the construction and destruction of railways and telegraph lines, bridges and tunnels. His energy has vivified every department of the military service. The maneuvers will be of exceptional interest, representing the latest developments in the art of killing. The firing is to be under an electric light applied in various ways, now bringing into full view the attacked, and again the attacking forces. THE AUTUMN MANEUVERS.

MONTREAL, July 7.—A cable from London says: The complete break-down of the Eastern Telegraph Company's system, between Java and Port Darwin, is creating a strong feeling in the commercial public in favor of a Pacific cable from Vancouver to Australia. The feeling was voiced at the annual meeting of the New Oriental Bank.

The chalirman said he went east, recently, via the Canadian Pacific, and was convinced that a cable via Canada and Australia would greatly benefit the commercial of the Empire, giving aclear line of communication through British territory. The break-down existing in cables emphasized the necessity of an alternative line, and increased the desire of the commercial public for double security against complete and protracted isolation. The opinion was expressed that the Imperial and Colonial companies should hasten the proposed survey of the route.

The question to refer to the Committee on Rules was put by a rising vote and was carried.

Mr. Abbott got the floor and moved that a committee of five be appointed on credentials. The motion was carried and the chair appointed C. W. Abbott of Pasadena, C. N. Brown of Pomona, J. R. Townsend of Los Angeles, Chauncey Smith of Santa Monica and G. L. Cole of Long Beach. The committee retired to an anteroom, and Judius Syms moved that a recess be taken for 15 minutes while the committee was out.

Mr. Gould offered a motior that a committee on resolutions be appointed by the chair, and while they were preparing the report that speakers should entertain the crowd. Hefore the motion could be put a lady in the rear of the hall got the floor and said that she hoped the motion to take a recess would carry, so that the delegates could get acquainted with each other. The motion carried, but before the body broke, up the secretary read a communication from the Young Men's Propliction Club, asking the convention to helpitheir organization by purchasing some prohibition publications which they had in the hall. When the recess was taken the crowd came up promptly, and the young men got in quite a sun from the sale of their pooks.

While the recess was on the chair called to order for just a moment, and named J. S. Stintz, H. H. Matlock, O. R. Dougherty, W. R. Goodwin and G. E. Maharry as the Committee on Permanent Organization.

Mr. Keech was then conducted to the chair amid applause, and the other permanent officers took their places. The chair announced that he was ready for business, when it was suggested that Mr. W. R. Goodwin should address the convention in the brief interim before the noon recess. The gentieman came to the stand, but before he got started to speaking one delegate got the floor and directed the convention where to get a good temperance dinner, and another gentleman told the body where they might subscribe to a good temperance paper.

they might subscribe to a good temperance paper.

Dr. Goodwia related his experience at the National Convention, and told many funny anecdotes of the great gathering. The convention was a great success, he said, and offered to the party the most emphatic encouragement. Where only a few years ago there were six delegates at a convention, he was prouder than ever in his life, when he looked down upon 1350 people assembled in the great hall at Indianapolis. There was in the prohibition cause, he said, no North, no South, no East, no West, it was a cause and a platform upon which any man could stand in any part of the country. Ideas on the tariff differ in every portion of the country where different interests are affected, but the prohibition plank affected all ailke.

At the conclusion of the talk, the convention adjourned to 1390.

Afternoon Session.

The delegates had about all reached the hall at 2 o'clock, and the body was called to hall at 2 o'clock, and the body was called to order at that hour, and the proceedings were opened with a prayer by Dr. J. G. Miller. When he had concluded, a motion was made that Mrs. Hutchison of the renowned musical family of that name give the convention a sour. There was no necessity for putting the vote on that motion, and the lady came forward and rendered very sweetly a temperance hymn, which gained for her a round of well-earned applainse.

Dr. Pirtle from Duarte wanted to know what was the matter with his district. They were entitled to three delegates, and only had one reported. A motion was them made to give Duarte her full reprethen made to give Duarte her full representation, but it was not put to the vote.

Dr. Goodwin arose to explain that he had given the impression over the county that anybody coming to the convention would be admitted, and he was responsible in a measure for this influx of persons not delegates. He would, therefore, move that all who had taken, or would take the party pledge, be admitted to the convention.

Mr. Yarnell supported the motion in a warm speech, and it was put and carried amid much applause, and the outsiders were received into the arms of the convention.

A motion was made then that the sense of this convention was that hereafter all conventions should be delegate conventions. This motion brought Mr. Gould to his feet and he stamped the motion as savoring of the schemes of the old parties, the low scheming for delegates that had worked the old parties' ruln. He wanted every man and woman of every grade of life in the conventions, a convention free from schemes and attempts to cook the convention. He would offer an amendment that the next convention be composed of delegates and all those who could subscribe to the party pledge.

Three supervisors from the Second, Fourth and Fifth districts were next to be nominated. There was some little discussion on the manner in which the nominations should be made. Some wanted to leave the nominations to the different disdricts themselves. It was asserted that the Supervisors had the power to revoke the saloon licenses all over the county, if they wished, and consequently the convention should be very careful about who was nominated, as there would be a heavy weight on their shoulders, if they should be elected. A motion to refer the nominations to the different districts was made. Many objections arose to it, and it was lost, and the business went on in the regulation way.

Dr. Milier moved a substitute that all they would be considered members of the

The chair ruled the motion out of order,

Mr. Gould moved a reconsideration of the WARM DISCUSSION. The report brought forth some of the warmest discussion of the convention. It seems that there is a strong spirit of jeal-ousy between the Home Protection leagues and the Prohibition clubs, and it was asand the Frombiton cluss, and it was as-serted in the course of the argument that the Home Protection League was In-augurated simply for the purpose of break-ing up the Prohibition clubs. Hardly had such an assertion been made when all over the house there arose cries of "Not so, not "o"

Miss Willard and other eminent people in drafting the platform upon which the party stood. In recognition of all this, the committee has thought it well to put his name in the resolution as a commendation to the people among whom he would work during the campaign.

After much cross-firing the report was adopted as a whole, and the convention adjourned sine die.

We that were born in Ireland have a more vivid and distinct knowledge of the terrible disasters that followed the enforcement of the free trade doctrine subsequent to the fiching of the Irish Parliament by the use of British gold, than those who are less conversant with Irish history.

In 1782 Ireland was in a fair and prosperous condition, but immediatly after the loss of her Parliament, disaster, like an evereating cancer, gnawed at the vitals of the Nation's industries until paralysis was beyond arresting and total destruction but a question of time.

Mr. Bates reviewed in a concise and interesting manner the history of the workingmen's movement in 1878 and 1879; he referred to the passage of the Democratic gag law of 1878, and made some scathing allustons to the actions of the Democratic officials of San Francisco, the government of that city being Democratic at that time. He told how the Democratic police were used to disrupt and suppress the workingman's movement; how the policemen suppressed the workingmen's public meetings, spied out and hounded their conventions, clubbed their audiences and imprisoned their leaders. He humerously referred to the singular political somersaults which some men make, and by way of illustration stated that he was a member of

A Lady Who is Tired of This World Commits suicide.

An inquest was held last night on the body of Mrs. Maria Brain, who died at her home at the Half-way House, on Mission road, where her husband, Noah J. Brain, keeps a saloon. Daniel Revane testified that he went into paniel Revane testined that he went into the saloon late in the afternoon, and was told that the lady had taken poison. Going into the room, he saw her in her husband's arms, and she greeted him with the words:

AN ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING-TELLING ADDRESSES.

The Oro Finos and the Irish-American Bernocracy Skinned and Scalped.

A mass-meeting of Boyle Heights Republicans was held last night at Harris's Hall, First street. C. H. Clark occupied the chair, and Sacket Cornell acted as secretary.

E. S. Singletary was the first speaker. He reviewed the issues of the campaign in a spirited manner, and was well received. Mr. Singletary was followed by Hon. Thomas H. Bates, who made an eloquent and telling address, of which the following is a brief synopsis:

Fellow Republicans, we assembled here to discuss in a friendly manner the issues involved in the great contest that is soon to be waged between Republican protection, entwined around the stars and stripes as the emblem of its American birthright, and free trade, the apothegm of its proBritish Democratic opponent. There has been no election within the memory of any individual present that is fraucht with so much importance to the welfare of the working classes as the one of next November.

We that were born in Ireland have a more vivid and distinct knowledge of the terribel disasters that followed the enforcement of the free trade dectrine subsequent to the filehing of the Irish Parliament by the use of British gold, than those who are less conversers and with Irish history.

Considerable Excitement in Police Considerable Excitement in Police Circles—New Order of Things.
Police circles were all torn up yesterday over the action of the commissioners in requesting eight officers to hand in their resignations, and caused no end of discussion on the streets and at headquarters. In 1847 2,000,000 or more of the sons and daughters of Ireland found relief in famina and death. And where are we to seek for the cause but in the accursed free trade doctine that is now being attempted by Cleveland and his pro-British allies in this paragen of all governments?

The difference is so great between the wages paid the American laborer and that paid the laborers of any other country, that no comparison can be made that will not have been an industrial system—hence it is as plain as a pike suff that whosoever desires to maintain that system should stand by an ivote for the Republican party—a party that stands today, as it has ever stood, the champion of human rights and the bulwark of striends of the Democratic port of the poople of this coast on the Chinese question. Other organizations have taken other means of a quieter or more effectual kind, and are already making themselves feit in ways that are harmonious and progressive. Of all these societies, the fittest will survive, but the least of them all can but do good in keeping alive an active musical atmosphere, which shall prove encuraging to the great ones who will from time to time stray down here from larger, but not more appreciative, cities. Nobody can or does deny that Los Angeles has "done herself proud" in the past by the way in which she has patronized and enjoyed whatever of real worth was offered her, especially in the dramatic line. She now has a chance to follow her liberal precedent by cooperating in whatever way she may, in a project that is on foot to give everybody pleasure, except the abhorred one "who hath no music in his soul." Mr. Charles E. Locke has in view the plan of a series of splendid concerts, to be given first in San Francisco and later here, by a company of musical glants, whose names alone awaken meiody. The concerts will occur in September or October, and will be under the directorship of the veteran Carl Zerrahn, with an orchestra of 60 and a chorus of 150, the chorus to be formed and trained here. The soloists will be, soprano, Lillie Lehman or Emma Juch; alto, Schaarschmidt; basso, Myron Whitney or William Ludwig; planist, Raphael Joseffy. Such a possibility should set every music lover and society member to work, promptly and cordially, toward such an end, an end which, in spite of minor differences, should for once suffice "to set their jarring cords in time." or less eloquent appeals to join their names and their money to this or that organiza

The residents in the vicinity of Orange The residents in the vicinity of Orange and Ingram streets are up in arms about the continued blasting in the opening up of the new street at that place, and say they will get out an injunction if something is not done. The matter has come before the Police Commissioners, but the people are anything but satisfied with the action of that bedy and vectoriary adjacention called at body, and yesterday a delegation called at the Times office to enter another protest, and a reporter was sent out to go are the body, and sesertary a deregation cancer as the Times office to enter another notest, and a reporter was sent out to go to the ground and see what the parties at interest had to say. It seems that the Mayor and Chief of Police went up to the scene of operations Friday afternoon, when a number of blasts were set off to give them an idea of the force of the explosion. The people in the neighborhood say that the contractors prepared for the visit and put in light charges, so that no shock was feit, and that they promised that they would not increase the blasts, but that they have not kept their word, and that yesterday they resumed operations on the same scale as before the complaint was made, showing that they were acting in bad faith. The reporter interviewed quite a number of the property-holders in the vicinity and went through several of the houses. I am going to tell you of the extraordinary change your Cetteura Memedias performed on me. About the ist of April last I noticed some red pimples like coming out all over my body, but thought nothing of it until some time later on, when it began to look like snots of mortar spotted on, and which came off in layers, accompanied with itching. I would scratch every night until was raw, then the next night the scales, being formed meanwhile, were scratched off again. In van did consult all the decires in the country, but Their Dishes and Frightens the Life Out of Their Wives and Little Ones-Will Go to Court.

scratch every night until was raw, then the next night the scales, being formed meanwhile, were scratched off again. In vain did I consult all the doctors in the country, but wi hout aid. After giving up all hopes of receivery, I happened to see an advertisement in the newspaper about your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and purchased them from my druggist, and obtained almost immediate relief. I began to notice that the scaly cruptions gradually dropped off and disappeared one by one, and have been fully cured. I had the disease thirteen months before I began taking the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and in four or was eccema and paoriasis. I recommend they are commended to the control of the con We cannot do justice to the esteem in which CUTICUTA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICUTA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifer, prepared from it, and CUTICUTA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifer, are held by the thousands upon thousands whose lives have been made happy by the cure of agonizing, humilating, itching, scaly and pimply diseases of the skin, scalp and blood, with loes of hair. they were acting in bad faith. The reporter interviewed quite a number of the property-holders in the vicinity and went through several of the houses. In all of them the ceiling was more or less cracked, and in one instance it was said that a well-known contractor had examined the building and said that the whole structure was wrenched. This was the case of Mr. Murray, and his next-door neighbor corroborated all his statements, as did also a son of Mrs. Griffin, who lives opposite to him. Mrs. Caswell, wife of Rev. G. W. Caswell, who lives at least 800 feet from the blasting, says that the effect on her house is exactly like that of a mild earthquake, and that yesterday when two ladies were visiting her, they thought that such was the case, and the shock was so severe as to awaken a person asleep in the house. Not a single dissenting opinion could be heard, one lady going so far as to say that when the blasts were set off it presented the exact appearance of a volcano. All said that their chandeliers were shaken and crockery knocked over, and that rocks and chunks of hard dirt were hurled into their yards. In regard to the blasting, they say that the reason the contractors insist on using powder is because they get 60 cents yet on the arth can be plowed. They also say that Mr. Donegan, the contractor, and George C. Knox, the civil engineer, both say that the plow cau be used, and that there is no necessity for using explosives. The people say that they do not wish to be considered as obstructionists, but that as many other and more difficult cuts and excavations have been made without the use of giant powder; that, in fact, this is the first instance where explosives have ever been used in the city for this purpose, and they do not see why they should have their homes shaken down over their heads simply to increase the profits of a company of contractors. Another complaint that they make, apparently with a good cause, is that the ordinance provides for an indemnity bond, to recover under which they will in all PIMPLES. black-heads, red, rough, chappe who have tried many remedies and physicians despair of relief or cure.

The Gamblers Have Made Up Their Minds to Bulldoze.

It is believed that the gamblers are preparing to open up, and again put to the test the backbone of Mayor Workman and Mr. Humphreys. For several days past they have been more active than usual, and last have been more active than usual, and last night it was reported that one or two of the games were run to see whether they would be pulled or notified to shut up. When they were finally closed about a month ago, Chief Cuddy said that he would see that they were kept closed, and that there would be no more gambling during his administration, but that was several weeks ago, and it is barely possible that the matter has since escaped his memory in the hurry and worry of the thousand and one things that occupy his time and attention. The Chinese are also making preparations that look Doings of the Past Week—What Musical People Are Doing.

After a long period of more than culpable indifference to music, in general neglect of the local talent and of the visiting musician within her gates, Los Angeles has at last awakened to a fervid interest in the art divine. Musical societies, little and big, ambitious and modest, are crepping up on every hand, and the solid citizens find likely to be an interesting one, and will likely to cause considerable discussion.

TALKS WITH CITIZENS.

S. A. Mattison.-"I have been in the insurance business for more than a generation. Thanks to my faith in the wonderful growth of this section and a contented disposition, which makes me satisfied with something less than the whole earth, I am now able to retire from active business and take things easy. When I see the wonderful advance which the system of life insurance has made since I first started out to canvass, 35 years ago, I can but feel admiration for the untiring efforts of those who have built up and perfected so beneficent a system. In those days life insurance was complete novelty, and was regarded with suspicion and mistrust. In fact, it was considered by most people as little better than a confidence game. I remember one day I was talking to a merchant in a country town about the advantages of life insurance, and I noticed an old farmer listening very attentively to what I was saying. When I got through with the merchant the granger pulled me to one side. 'Say,' said he, with an owl-like wink, 'd'yer raily think yer can make that man b'leeve as how he'll live any longer If he insures his life?' I saw he was in dead carnest, so I asked him whether his house and barn were insured against fire, to which he replied in the affirmative. 'Weil,' said I, 'do you suppose that will prevent your property from burning up?' 'Of course not, but I'd get the money.' "That's just the same in life insurance.' He was quite surprised at this view of the case, and at once declared his intention of insuring his life. Many were the pitying remarks made to me by friends on my bad taste in going into such a doubtful business. Why, the ministers would breach against the new-fangled idea, as an invention of the evil one. Wives would indignantly refuse to be made the beneficiaries of what they called 'blood money' in case of their husband's deaths. I can tell you it took a pretty good man to work up the life-insurance business in those days. Galileo was right. The world does move."

Ready for the Public.

The Grand Opera-house will reopen on tomorrow evening in such a new guise that the old habitué will hardly recognize the building as the same. Upon entering on Main street the eye is at once attracted and pleased by the handsome decorations in Marial work of the walls and ceiling. Bronzed terra cotta is the prevailing tint, with the cornices and pilasters in plastor relievo work, rendered bright with rich gliding. The old box-office has been remodeled out of existence, and one of the most commodious on the Pacific Coast has taken its place. In addition to the box-office proper, a little cozy retreat for Manager Wyatt has been provided.

To the right and left of the toyer a stairway gives ready and easy access to the family circle, which has been fitted with the opera-chairs taken from the parquet. This portion of the house is now fully as contrable as any other and will doubless be fully appreciated by the patrons of the treater. DISPATCHES from Europe announce that a financial crash is imminent in France. The copper ring is about to break up, and will involve a number of great money firms in Europe. MRS. BENJAMIN HARRISON is said to be a remarkably handsome woman with highly polished manners. She will fill her place at the White House not less charmingly and acceptably than Mrs. Cleveland.

A VERY important special dispatch will be found in this issue, referring to an asserted flaw in the title of a valuable tract of land in Los Angeles. This news will be apt to create a sensation in local real-estate circles.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND once said that disqualifying a President for reelection would be the best way to promote civil service reform. Next Nohis remark.

THE Ohio State Journal breaks into inspired and prophetic song, and sing-eth as follows, while the loyal Nation takes up the refrain: "Of all the glad words of tongue or pen, the gladdest are these: We will have Ben."

THE Cleveland Plaindealer, as the mouthpiece of the Democracy, says: "The nomination of Harrison gave the country a chill." Ah, but the chill is nothing to what the party of the red bandana will experience in November.

In the report of the meeting of the King's Daughters, published in yesterday's Times, through some inadvert-ence the signature of the secretary, Miss H. B. Freeman, was not printed with her report.

Misconceptions About Callfornia.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, in speaking of the audiences which she has addressed here in California, says: "The quality of the audiences appeared to me very good. I felt the intellectual level higher than I had dared to hope.' Mrs. Howe, like many another individual who has come to us, had evidently somewhat imperfect conceptions of the condition of society upon this slope. She did not anticipate finding that culture and intelligence had kept pace with the growing prosperity and general advancement of this State, and that the peculiar conditions of pioneer life are a thing of the past as far as the towns and cities of California are concerned. The character of the immigration which has been pouring into this State during the past few years has escaped her observation. The truth is that there is no State in the American Union that has progressed more rapidly and undergone such general transformation within the past few years as our own. Society is no longer in a disorganized condition. Art, learning and culture in all its forms find here as generous encouragement as in the older States. The East has been, particularly within the past few years, sending to us not only its capital, but its brains; and capital, brawn and brain are working together for our upbuilding. There is no State with better school laws than our own; none more abundantly provided with colleges and universities, and none that, in proportion to its population, sustains so many newspapers as the State of Californic. It is a State that has produced poe's and educators, scholarly men and scientific thinker. It has nursed artists and statesmen, and furnishes as no other State can, provision for their inspiration and development. The intellectual level of her people will compare favorably with that of older commonwealths, and Cal-

As amusing little incident occurred the say that it has to any noteworthy extent. It is true that a vast amount of building has been going on during the past year. This is very well. It will employ thousands of men, and, in so far, tend to the temporary prosperity of the city, but we need more than this. To insure occupants for all these business blocks and private houses that are going up, we must have business, must have enterprise, must have production. Otherwise there will be danger that the building boom may be as much overdone as the real-estate boom was last vear.

annoying and inexcusable, but a welldressed woman who stood beside the Saunterer found it thoroughly exasperating, some resemblance to a half-drowned dampened and her garments looked as if she had been caught in a July shower. She looked daggers and gave a perceptible

"snort" which was suggestive of her rising indignation. This sound caught the quick ear of a careless hoodlum who was on insolent laugh. This was like pouring oil upon the flames, and the woman turned to him in white wrath, exclaiming in, rasping tones: "Laugh! why don't you laugh? It's funny, ain't it?" At this the hoodlum broke into a gigantic roar, and the other passengers found the irrepressible smile a something beyond control. Poor little woman!

it was badt to be not only 'needlessly drenched, but to lose your temper in the face of the insolent hoodlum's laugh—that was too bad, too bad.

 What is being done in this line? What do we need? Firstly, agricultural products, the basis of all wealth. Secondly, manufacturing. As to agricultural products, a considerable amount of orchard and vineyard has been planted of late in Southern California, but scarcely sufficient to replace the thousands of acres of vineyard and orchard that have been cut up for town lots We still import eggs, butter and poultry by the carload from Kansas and perous as long as the imports are largely in excess of the exports. Further, it is announced that there is little probability that a horticultural exhibit will be held here this year. This is a very bad sign. We have a vast productive country, and we must work it for all it we all know very well that an extra attraction, but we shall make a big mistake if we depend on that

As to manufactures, there is a very discouraging apathy on the part of our local capitalists in regard to any such enterprises, however good a financial return they may promise. A letter from a mechanic, which we published yesterday, may possibly show why manufactures do not attract more capital here. Those which already more capital here. I nose which already exist are not encouraged. Consumers send away from home for what they need. This is all wrong. It will not do. No city can be built up in that

In our telegraphic dispatches today will be found a special from San Francisco, containing an interview with Col. Mosby, who was for over six years United States Consul at Hong Kong, on the pro-Chinese proclivities of Cleveland and Bayard. A couple of days ago he noticed there was something wrong with the prisoners, and on investigation found that an attempt was being made to dig through the brick wall. In a corner of the corridor outside of the cells is an iron sink with water, to which the prisoners have access. On the wall, to keep the water from splashing, are boards. These had been removed and the bricks dug out one by one, making a hole large enough for a man's body a hole large enough for a man's body to pass through. By Telegraph to The Times. SAN FRANCISCO, Jul SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—[Special.]
There is no man in the city more thoroughly conversant with the Chinese policy of President Cleveland and Secretary Bayard than Col. Mosby, who was for over six years United States Consul at Hong Kong, being appointed thereto by Gen. Grant, and also holding that position during the adminis tration of Hayes. When asked if he would tell what he knew of Cleveland's partiality for Chinese, he replied:

"Just a few months before Arthur's administration, Secretary McCullough issued an order to collectors of customs directing them to permit Chinese to land in the United States on the certificate of the Consul at the port of departure, stating that the Chinamen desiring to land belonged to the exempt class. This order made the Consul the sole and exclusive judge of the right of a Chinaman to come into the United States. As nearly all the Chinese come to California on the Hong Kong steamers, the order simply turned over the whole business to the United States Consul at Hong Kong. The amount of the fee the Consul could charge for his certificate was left to his discretion, and under the regula-tions this has been his own personal perquisite. This business has been a perfect benanza, and all the coolies in China could have been sent on such certificates to Cail

"Col. Bee, Consul for China at San Fran cisco, wrote a letter, inclosing a copy of the circular, which I compared with the law, and came to the conclusion that it was in conflict with the Restriction Act. That I was re-moved from office partly to further the schemes of Chinese immigration there is no doubt, for I was not only kicked out immediately, but Bayard wrote to the Chinese Minister that it had been done and there would no longer be any obstruction in the consulate at Hong Kong.

"After the Chinese began to land here on consular certificates, I went myself to the custom-house and called Judge Hager's atntion to the fact that Bayard's instruc tions nullified the Restriction Act. He re ferred the question to Washington. At the same time the San Francisco newspapers sounded this alarm, and Congressman Morrow had several interviews with Bayard, protesting against the course of Cleveland's administration. Bayard revoked his in structions, but at the same time Cleveland sent a message to the Senate calling atten-tion to the defect in the law in not permitting Chinese to land on consular certificates, and recommending Congress to so amend the law as to permit it to be done. Congress refused to amend the law as requested by Cleveland and the Chinese "Bayard wrote to the Chinese Minister to my successor at Hong Kong and to the Secretary of the Treasury, censuring me and charging me with insubordination for refusal to violate the law for my own profit and advantage. The way I discovered the crooked course of Cleveland and Bayard on the Chinese question was by the Senate calling on the State Department for all its correspondence on the subject and

The time of the trip was consumed in dis-cussing the political situation.

The Notification Committee was met at the depot in Rhinebeck by a local commit-tee, and, amid cheering and booming at cannon, escorted to the Huntiagton place, where Mr. Morton is living. Mr. Morton, arrayed in black clothes and looking in splendid health, stood in the center of his drawing-room and received the committee drawing-room and received the committee Mrs. Morton, handsome and elegantly at tired, stood beside her husband during the otification ceremony. Mrs. Morton's nother, Mrs. Street, and her brother, W. L. treet, and a number of friends of the fam ity were grouped in the rear. The speeche were short and to the point.

Chairman Estee, clad in a black frock coat, wearing a Harrison and Morton badge, was ushered into the drawing-room and advanced within a few feet of Mr. Morton. Immediately behind came the members of the committee. Mr. Estee then delivered the following address:
"The National Convention of the Republican party, recently assembled in Chicago, nominated as its candidate for President Geu. Harrison, and with equal ananimity selected you as its nominee for Vice-President. By order of that convention we were appointed a committee to notify its nom-

The country has already passed judgment upon your selection, and it has met such universal appreval that it is only left this committee to add its own expression of their high appreciation of your own personal qualities as well as their confidence in your eminent fitness for the position to which the deliberate judgment of the convention assigned you. In conclusion, we believe that this notification to you will not be a meaningless formality, but that your nomination will result in triumphant election."

Mr. Morton responded to the address as follows:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Committee: I am profoundly sensible of the high honor which has been conferred upon me by the National Republican Convention recently in sessionat Chicago, and thank you, gentlemen, for the courteous and complimentary terms in which you have officially announced my nomination as the candidate of the Republican party for the Vice-Presidency. I am also deeply sensible of the honor conferred upon the State of New York in the selection of a citizen of this State as one of the standard-bearers in the approaching peaceful conflict of two great political parties of the country for the supremacy in governmental control. New York represents, to a large degree, the business interests of all those ever growing and wider spreading communities of varied interests and industries which it is the mission of the Republican party to foster and protect. The platform so wisely adopted at Chicage has this mission boidly in view, and by its enunciation of these principles makes the issue clear and distinct. I accept the position tendered by the convention of which you are the honored representatives, and will in due time address to you, Mr. Chairman, an official communication fo that effect."

After Morton had finished speaking, he invited his visitors to luncheon, which was ready to be served on the balcony. The place is a beautiful one. Rich wooded land extends as far as the cye can see, and at the bottom of a valley a brook bubbles along.

Estee gave the toast, "The Next Vice-President," to which Morton gracefully responded. The party then entered carriages and were driven to Ellerslie, where they had a delightful time inspecting Morton's new park.

The committee which went to Rhinebeck to notify Morton of his nomination returned tonight at 9 o'clock and went to their hotel. They will thence disperse to their homes.

By Telegraph to The Times.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 8,—[Special.] A engthy dispatch from Washington is pubished in a morning paper to the effect that Surveyor-General Hammond of California has forwarded to the Commissioner of the General Land Office a report containing a great amount of documentary evidence showing that the valuable tract of land northeast of Commercial street and southeast of Main street, in Los Angeles, is owned by the United States Government. and that the parties who now occupy it have no title to the property.

Mrs. M. A. Woodworth is the principal one of the present occupants. Among the others are C. Ducommun and L. Flasher. The report of the Surveyor General recites that Gov. Pio Pico, the last of the Mexican Governors, purchased this property from Julian Williams in April, 1845; that the purchase was made on behalf of the Mexican Government, and that the property was afterward used for Governetty was afterward used for Government purposes. All the property of the Mexican Government in Los Angeles, including this tract, was afterward occupied by Commodore Stockton, in command of the United States troops, when this Government took possesion of the Territory a year later. It is claimed that it was held by him as Government property, and that in this way the United States acquired title to it, and that there is no record that such title has ever been relinquished to Williams, the original owner, or any one else.

The report further shows that Mrs. Woodworth and others, who now claim the woodworth and others, who have claim the land, acquired their title thereto indirectly from Williams, who, notwithstanding a former deed to Gov. Pleo, gave another deed for the same property to B. D. Wilson, dated December 11, 1849, and that the present occupants obtained the property from Wilson or his grantees.

The deed to Wilson was given after the United States troops had removed from the land, and it is supposed that Williams gave this deed in the belief that no one was aware of the prior deed to Pico.

Surveyor-General Hammond states that the evidence was obtained from the Spanish archives in his office, and also from records at Los Angeles. He encloses a great amount of documentary evidence, includ-ing the original deed from Julian Williams

Three Men Arraigned for Murder and Grand Larceny. and Grand Larceny.

SACRAMENTO, July 7.—[By the Associated Press.] In the Superior Court this afternoon Henry Myers, John Olsen and William Dragee were brought up for arraignment on a charge of grand larceny. They are also charged with the murder of John Lowell. An order was entered that the defendants be taken to El Dorado country on the complete, for murder, and county on the complaint for murder, and that the grand larceny case be postponed in that the grand lareeny case be postponed in this county until after the El Dorado trials.

On arraignment Myers pleaded guilty and stated that he, with two others, had stolen the property. Dragee finally pleaded guilty, and Olsen entered the same plea. Afterward the pleas were permitted to be withdrawn until Monday to give the attorney for the defendants an opportunity to examine into the legality of the information.

Long Branch Mystery Still Unsolved-The Persons Interested Keeping Very Quiet— Officers Chosen by the Christian Endeavor Convention.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON (D. C.), July 7.—[By the Associated Press.] House.—A joint resolution was passed soliciting Leonard A. Harris of Ohio, John A. Martin of Kansas and John F. Hartranft of Pennsylvania to fill vacancies on the Board of Managers of the National Home for Disabled Volunteer

The hour having expired, the House went into Committee of the Whole on the Tariff Bill. The pending amendment was that offered by Mr. Cannon of Illinois in the sugar schedule.

Mr. Kelley of Pennsylvania announced himself a Republican, devoted to the doc-trines of his party and the utterances of its National Convention. He was a protec-tionist, and believed that the system of protective duties had developed the country to its present state of prosperity. It was essential to the maintenance of that position. He was surprised to hear the position. He was surprised to hear the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Cannon) make an assault upon the platform recently adopted by the Republican party. He then quoted from the Chicago platform the protection plank, and regretted that the doctrine there enunciated had been assaulted from the seats of Republican members. The remarks by these gentlemen he dis-The remarks by these gentlemen he dis-sented from in the name of the Republican party, at whose birth he had been, and to e interests he had been devoted from that time to this. Mr. Kelley then defended the protective system in regard to sugar and opposed the bounty policy. At the conclusion of his remarks, Mr. Nelson of Minnesota suggested that the gentleman from Pennsylvania was the only man who was thoroughly indorsed by the Chicago Convention. This remark caused onsiderable laughter.

Mr. Kelley accepted the compliment, and said that the convention did indorse his po-sition, and he was ready to say, "Lord, lettest Thou Thy servant depart in peace, for line eyes have seen the glory of the Re-ublican party." [Laughter.] Mr. McKenna of California said that he, too, was a Republican, and for that reason he rose to oppose the amendment. It had no true basis of fact or of principle. For the same reason urged to support it, every item of the Mills Bill could be supported. For the same reason given to put sugar on the free list, every American product could be put on the free list. The amendment was opposed to the principle of protection. It was distinctly and accurately opposed to clared protection to American industries to be the supreme principle of the Republican p arty. It conceded the necessity of a reduction of revenue, but distinctly enumerated the means of reduction. Protection was not to be sacrificed, if it was taken from any American industry. The gentleman might say when you give bountles you give protection. He did not deny this, but what assurance could be given of the stability of this protection. Were the gentlemen willing to extend the bounty system to any other industry? Were they willing to interpret the Republican pistform as offering a system of bounties to the industries of the country. The question of protection by tariff and protection by bounty was not a verbal distinction. It was a distinction between what the people were used to and what the people were used to, and he asked the Republicans of the House when they were about to submit the question of protection to the hazard of dispute, not to cast into one of the scales an odious and objectionable form of their protection. The amendment was distinctly unrepublican and distinctly antagonistic to the declarations of the Republican party in convention assembled. He was sorry, sincerely sorry, that the gentleman had offered the amendment. He hoped it would not receive any substantial vote. If it received a substantial Republican vote, he would go from the House disappointed in his party, disappointed in the bellef it expressed and affirmed, that the principle of protection must be universal. The Republican party declared this as universal policy, and it would succeed. If would deserve to succeed. [Applause.] the Chicago platform. That platform de-clared protection to American industries to declared this as universal policy, and it would succeed. It would deserve to succeed. Applause.

Mr. Cannon said the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. Kelley) had seen proper to arraign the amendment and his (Mr. Cannon's) position as a Republican as not patriotic. If the gentleman was correct about this matter, if the Chicago Convention meant what it said, and if he (Mr. Kelley) alone of the party had a right to construct the niatform he (Mr. Cannon) frust get eff of it. He had no feelings save those of kindness toward the gantleman from Pennsylvania, but the gentleman could not ask him to sit still and listen to him (Mr. Kelley) place the party to which they both belonged in a position which, to his mind, it did not occupy. In conclusion, Mr. Cannon said that if he had to choose between taking the tax off whisky and off sugar, Mr. Peters of Kansas said he would favor a protective duty on sugar, even if not a pound was produced outside of Louisians, but it had been demonstrated that the highest grade sugar from sorghum was produced in Kansas.

Mr. Bayne of Pennsylvania inquired if the sorghum crop had proved a success hefore the State bounty had been granted.

Mr. Peters replied that sorghum had been cultivated six years ago in Kansas. The bounty had nothing to do with the industry. Every farmer in that country where cane could be raised, was interested in the protective duty because sugar could not be produced in the United States? He would be glad to see this industry. Et was a certain, safe crop. Grasshoppers did not touch it, and the changes of weather did not affect it. Was there any use of talking to a Kansas farmer, then, about taking off the produced in the United States? He would be glad to see this industry assured protection by bounty, but nobody could give that assurance.

Anderson of Kansas expressed topposition to the amendment, he regarded as monarchical, im-and anti-republican.

ern Pacific is anxious to make rates so high that the traffic will be driven from its lines entirely. The Union Pacific wants to make low rates and the result is a locking of horns. Another thing is bothering the transcontinental lines in their reluctance to permit the opening of the Burlington's Mt. Shasta line from Portland to Deaver and the East at San Francisco rates.

The transcontinental lines have always required eastern lines selling their excursion tickets to make the tickets in the form of an exchangeable order on Missouri River points. This arrangement has complicated business for the railroads and for passengers. nar being serious. Messrs. Hamilton and Fox, together with a lady and gentheman friend put out to sea in a small suiboat, and when off Seal Rocks a high sa swamped their boat, giving the viole party an unwelcome baptism.
They all got asbore, righted their boat, ard came in about 4 p.m. well drenched.
The Mercer Jane, commanded by Capt. Hunt, also had the misfortane of being cast ashore off Sugar Loaf Point, and after several attempts to put out to sea, to get around the point, failed. The party then put into land in small boats, struck camp and lighted a fire, while the gallant Captain sailed in across land for help. Messrs.
Johnson and Breese put out in a lifeboat, and, at 10 p.m., brought in the castaways—all but Mercer Jane, who

In the afternoon the races came off.
Mr. Joseph Flowers won the mile boat race. The swimming match was won by Theo Wendler, one-half mile and return. The second boat race, threequarters of a mile, was won by Joe Persidio. The shooting match was won by W. E. Gard. All winners received a handsome cash prize, also some side stakes.

At 8:30 p.m. the grand display of fireworks commenced. Some $50 worth of works were placed on the pier and-sent up over the water, which lighted up land and sea for miles around. Even the fishes became enthused with the celebrities of the occasion, and came in thousands, jumping up several feet above the water, their pearl-like scales glistening in the many-colored lights. All helped to lend enchantment to the All heiped to lend enchantment to the already overjoyous' spectators. After the grandeur of this display ceased and all was quiet again, a general vote of hearty thanks was tendered the proprietor and manager of the Hotel Metropol for their generosity in giving us such a treat in this far-off isle. All faces wore smiles, and none showed the effects of drink and other indulgencies so common on such an occasion. encies so common on such an occasion

I have such a big budget of letters on band for this week I shall not try to say very much to my young folks, but let them do most of the talking. And I am sure that I like to listen to them, they have so many bright things to say. We are getting to be a delightfully sociable corner, and I know that there are a good many grown-up people who listen to hear what the children have to say. Well, well, let them just what lovely times they will all have together:

ANAHEIM, June 25, 1888.

Dear Mrs. Otis. My papa takes the MIRROR. I like to read the letters from the little boys and girls. I am a little girl 9 years old. I have lived in California five years. I like out here very much, and I don't want to go back east again, for it's so cold there. My sister Moina and I have been going to school, but now it is out, and we have a fine time playing. Moina is 9 years old, too, but she will soon be 10. I have a little girls to play with. There was a family moved into the next house two days ago, and they have three little girls. Now we will have lots of little girls to play with. We live near the depot, and every day we can see the train come in. Some times Moina, Charlie, grandpa and I go down and see the train when it comes in. It looks nice to see all the people sitting around the track about train time. I don't want to write too much this time, so I will write again, if you have room for my letter in the pleasant times that they have in the country. I am sure you will all enjoy reading about them:

LA PANZA, June 22. 1888.

Dear Mrs. Otis: I wrote to The Times once before.

Yours, truly, DABIRMA STILL.

I do not wonder that you felt badly when your dog was poisoned. I know just how you felt, for about two months ago we lost a beautiful pup about 6 weeks old. He was a cross between a Newfoundland and a St. Bernard. His body was white, with the exception of a narrow black ring about the tail where it joined the body. He had long soft, silken black ears, and his forchead was black, with the exception of a narrow white line in the middle. He was very handsome and very cunning. We called him Buster, after his brother, who was daid. They were both of them poisoned. The morning that little Buster and he came he came him Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

legs begging for his breakfast, which I gave him. After he had finished it he ran out as happy a little dog as you ever saw, but in less than an hour we found him dead in the little place where he slept. His master dug a grave for him under a beautiful rosebush, and wrapped him in his blanket, and covered him over with fresh eavth. When I saw his grave I thought that I should like to know if there was any other life for him. But we cannot tell. Another letter from La Panza. Life must be very pleasant there. Read it them, they have so many bright things to say. We are getting to be a delightfully sociable corner, and I know that there are a good many grown-up people who listen to hear what the children have to say. Well, well, let them listen with both ears, they will hear nothing of which we shall be ashamed, but they will hear enough to make them wish sometimes that they were children again—glad-hearted boys and girls free from care as the sunshine. So tell us all about yourselves and your pets, for we never tire of hearing what you have to say.

First is a letter from a little girl who has no mother. Her home is in Siskiyou county, away in the northern part of the great State of California. It is in this county that M. DURSAUUR, July 3, ISSS.

Mrs. Otis: I have read the letters from the boys and girls in the Mirror and think they are very interesting, and tell you something of myself and my sister. I am 10 years old. My sister is 8 years old today, the 3d of July. Our mamma is dead and we are living here with a lady named Mrs. Tilley, who came here from Los Angeles. She is very kind to us, and made my sister a built hay party. My father is a conductor on the rallroad and we only see him every three days when he comes to see us. I guess I have written enough for once. I will see if you publish my letter. Yours truly.

giad that he could come to you, if only for a little time. God knows what is best for us and for those whom we love, and He will take care of us all.

I have just one more letter in my budget, and it is dated June 17th. I do not see where it has been all this while, and why it did not reach me before. I am very watchful of my little friends' letters, and have a special drawer where I put them as soon as they are received and read, and if any one writes me a letter for THE TIMES or MIRROR and does not see it in print, they may know that it has not reached me or came too late for the next Sunday's paper. But now we will read this long-delayed letter, and I shall hope that my little friend has not felt very badly because she has not seen it in THE TIMES before:

Los Angeles, June 17, 1888.

Dear Mrs. Otis: This is the first letter I have ever written for the paper, but I shall write quite often. My next letter will be from Redondo Beach, and I will tell you all about that place. I am staying with grandma now, but I am going down to Redondo Beach next Saturday. I have one sister and three brothers. My sister's name is Rachel Steele, and my brothers names are Willie, Edgar and Clinton. Willie is the oldest of the boys, but I am the oldest child in our family. I was 10 years old the 21st of last May. I had a nice birthday party, and I had a nice birthday party, and I had a nice birthday party, and a nice supper. I got some birthday pre ents. I got 5 cents, a small doll and a beautiful picture card. I go to school. My teacher's name is Miss Grey. I like my teacher real well. Our school will close Friday, I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. I go to the Fort-street M. E. Church. My Sunday-school teacher's name is Mrs. Spencer. She has a nice little girl. There was a little girl in to see me last week whom I did not see. She wanted to join the King's Daughters. I hope that she will come and join the King's Daughters. We will welcome all the girls, and boys, too, for they all belong to our King, and the can find them work enough to do. The King is the one who said, "Suffer the little children to come unto Me, and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven." I presume you can all tell whom that King is. One of the greatest sources of satisfaction to the housekeeper is a perfect-working refrigerator. There are none more certain to please and to meet all requirements than the "Iceberg Chief, Dry-air R frigerator." A constant renewal of air in its chambers prevents stagnation and all tanting of the provisions—the common fault of all makes, no matter how handsome in appearance, which are without a system of ventilation. The Iceberg Chief stands foremest as an economizer of ice as a dry-air and pure-air refrigerator, and is unexcelled in finish and workmanship, as well as cheapness. On exhibition and sale at Parmelee's Bazar.
